

Americans and French Cross Vesle And Rapidly Approach the Aisne

STRONGHOLDS OF HUNS FALL ONE BY ONE BEFORE ALLIES

With the American Armies in France, Sept. 5—(Noon)—The main German forces have retreated across the Aisne. American artilleries, supporting the pursuit, is over the Vesle. Bridging material is being rushed forward to be used in crossing the Aisne and the Oise-Aisne canal beyond it, if the enemy withdrawal continues to the Chemin Des Dames.

Paris, Sept. 5—(10:20 a. m.)—North of the Oise on the southern flank of the Picardy battle front the French line is pushing forward hourly, according to advices from the field today. The advance is so steady that it is impossible to outline the present location of the foremost troops.

The Germans are withdrawing in the general direction of St. Quentin. According to captured German officers the enemy has established a new provisional defense line, which runs through Ham, Berlancourt and Dampcourt. (Berlancourt is just north of Guiscard, which the French in their last night's official statement declared had already been reached.)

Jussy, Chauny and La Fare are in flames.

On the Vesle front the Germans are now half way to the Aisne.

With the American Armies in France, Sept. 5—Americans and French who swept across the Vesle river on a wide front, are practically half way to the Aisne today, at the farthest points of their advance.

As the enemy troops fall back toward the Chemin Des Dames positions they are being steadily followed up. Rear guard action continues with pressure from the Americans and French gradually increasing.

The first crossing of the Vesle, by patrols, was followed last night by crossing in force, when large bodies of allied fighters marched over the stream at a number of different places.

At last reports the Americans were beyond Vauxcerc, Blancy and Baslieux.

Bazoones and Fiametts fell into American hands through a flanking movement.

(Vauxcerc is nearly three miles north of the Vesle. Blancy is about two miles north of Fismes and Baslieux is southeast of it, about a mile north of the Vesle.)

Paris, Sept. 5—(12:20 P. M.)—Closing in on Ham, striking eastward to flank new German positions above the Vesle, and advancing northward from the Vesle in pursuit of the retreating enemy, the French armies gained steadily during the night, the war office announced today.

"During the night our troops maintained contact with the German rear guards and progressed eastward of the North Canal, toward the Aisne," the statement said.

"East of Nesle, we crossed the Somme canal in the region of Voyennes and Offey. (About 3-4 miles northwest of Ham.)

"Further south we passed out of Hombieux. Esme-Hallon and

Flavy De Meldeux. (These towns are south and west of Ham.)

"We carried our lines northward of Guiscard, until we reached the border of Berlancourt. About five miles due south of Ham.

"Between the Ailette and the Aisne we took Clamecy, Braye and Missy Sur Aisne. (This shows rapid development of the flanking maneuver against German positions along the Aisne and Chemin Des Dames.)

"At the end of yesterday eastward of Leully we replaced two violent German counter-attacks on Mont des Tobes. Our positions were maintained.

"On the Vesle front the Franco-Americans have reached the edge of

TRIANGLE OF GERMAN BASES ON DOUAI PLAIN IMMEDIATE OBJECTIVE OF HAIG'S PRESENT DRIVE

Military experts recently have directed attention to the triangle of cities, Douai, Cambrai and Valenciennes, which they indicated as the objective of the blow which Marshal Haig was to make at the Wotan line—the Drocourt-Queant switch line. These cities, because of their railroad and road facilities, have been the center of the German military machine in northern France and Belgium since the great trench line was formed.

Heights dominating the Aisne. Enlarging their action, our troops crossed the Vesle between Les Ventes and Jonchery."

London, Sept. 5.—Allied troops continue prying loose the Germans from their strongholds, according to overnight official statements of the war office.

The Paris official communique told of success in the double flanking operation above Soissons, where steady advances threaten enemy positions, both in Picardy and along the Aisne fronts. It was announced that the French had established new lines as far north as Guiscard.

The Germans were reported retreating north of the Oise and the Vesle river defenses apparently were being abandoned, the statement announcing that the French had crossed the stream on an eighteen mile front and had advanced northward.

On the Picardy front the British war office communique indicated that the canal Du Nord defense of the Germans was disintegrating. Field Marshal Haig reported his troops had crossed both the canal and the Tortille river, which it parallels for some distance on a wide front north of Moislains (four miles north of Peronne).

London, September 5.—The British independent air force within the past 48 hours has dropped 15 tons of bombs on the German military works in the Rhine provinces.

Three raids were made on the German airbase at Buehl. Three hangars were demolished and direct hits were obtained on many others.

The railways at Ehrang, four miles northeast of Treves, were attacked from a height of 900 feet, and every bomb scored a direct hit.

At Saarbruecken, 40 miles southeast of Treves, the Burbach works and railway were bombed.

FOUR KILLED BY BOMB EXPLOSION IN FEDERAL BUILDING IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 5.—The Federal building here, scene of an explosion yesterday which cost four lives, was under heavy military guard today. With hundreds of suspects passing through their hands, police, aided by naval and military intelligence men and secret service operatives, claimed the arrest of the bomber would come shortly.

The bomb exploded at 3:10 p. m. yesterday. The north corridor of the lower floor was partially wrecked when the wall was blown out into the street where three persons were caught and killed.

The dead are: Joseph B. Ladd, Salina, Kas., United States sailor.

Edward R. Kolkow, 75, postal employee.

William H. Wheeler, mail carrier.

A cordon of police was thrown about the square at once. Secret service men combed the building for suspects, taking several into custody. Then began a general round-up.

Among the first places visited were the I. W. W. headquarters. The fact that 93 members were sentenced to prison terms last week, directed suspicion of some officers to that organization.

I. W. W. connection with the outrage, was denied vehemently by William D. Haywood, leader and one of the convicted men. At the time of the explosion, he was in conference in the marshal's office on the eighth floor. He was rushed to his jail quarters, to avoid possible mobbing. Haywood laid it to German terrorists.

The explosion occurred with a roar jarring big loon buildings. Pedestrians were blown from their feet only those immediately in front of the post office entrance on Adams street were endangered by flying debris. The corridor itself contained a number of persons. Most of these were protected by heavy pillars or were some distance from the bomb. Their faces were blackened but none sustained serious injuries.

One interior wall was blown open. Back of it was E. R. Kolkow, one of the dead.

firemen and power house oilers, $90; boiler washers, 38 cents an hour with a fifty cent maximum; power transfer and turntable operators 33 to 45 cents an hour; shop, station and warehouse employees 31 to 43 cents an hour; common labor 28 to 40 cents.

None of the employees in the classes noted shall have a monthly rate in excess of $250 a month.

An eight-hour day is established with pro-rata overtime of time and a half on the actual minute basis.

The increases became effective September 1, with back pay to Jan. 1, based on the new scale if it had not already been paid.

FAMOUS VILLAGE IN FLANDERS IS TAKEN BY BRITISH

London, Sept. 5.—The famous Ploegsteert village in Flanders, two miles north of Armentieres, has been taken by the British, Field Marshal Haig reported today.

Hill 63, near Messines was also captured.

"Northward of the Lys there was sharp fighting yesterday," the statement said.

"Southwestward of Messines in the morning we attacked and captured Hill 63, taking 100 prisoners."

"Ploegsteert village was attacked and captured in the afternoon with 100 prisoners and a number of machine guns."

(The taking of this point shows the British have advanced more than a mile between Armentieres and Ypres.)

"Northward of Hill 63 and near Wyttschate, the enemy in repeated attacks was unsuccessful."

(Ploegsteert village and wood have been the scene of some of the bitterest fighting of the entire year. Thousands died in battle around Ploegsteert during the late 1914, and the 1915 campaign, and there was stubborn struggling there last year. Ploegsteert is known to the British soldiers everywhere as Plugstreet.)

"On the Lys front we hold the German line of Voermezele, Wulverghem, Ploegsteert, Nieppe, Laventie and Givenchy," the statement added.

WEATHER MAN SMILES FOR THE OPENING GAME

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Snappy middle-western September weather and a bright sun cheered Chicago today as preparations were made to sit in at the finish of the big league baseball until after the war.

Cubs and Red Sox, opponents in the last world's series the United States will root for until the war has been won, were satisfied with the turn in events, the thousands of fans who have spent their dollars to give assurance that the game will get a proper and decent burial were satisfied and the ball was ready to ring.

That the respite gained through the deluge which swept Chicago yesterday would be a good thing for the chances of each club there was no denying. It gave Dave Shean an extra 24-hours in which to nurse his injured finger and it gave the Sox and Cubs both an extra day of rest, something they needed badly.

ACTUAL SLACKERS SCARCE IN NEW YORK

New York, Sept. 5.—With less than one percent of yesterday's haul of 20,000 men who were picked up as lacking classification and draft registration cards held as actual slacker suspects, it has been decided to continue the slacker search here indefinitely.

Officials of government departments, army and navy men and volunteers are widening the scope of their activities and are entering all places in the city except private houses.

The "gas house district" which was raided late last night was the scene of two pitched battles between government men and slacker suspects. The former emerged the victors and as a result twenty more men were landed in the 60th Regiment armory where three thousand men were taken last night.

THEATERS

Bijou Theater.
Artcraft's release of the latest Douglas Fairbanks production, "A Famous Musketeer," marks the reunion of Allan Dwan as a director while the famous star, Majorie Daw plays the leading female role. "A Modern Musketeer," tells the story of Ned Thacker who has the spirit of D'Artagnan, and whose chivalry is not understood by the present generation. Like the Dumas hero he manages to get into innumerable scrapes, some humorous and others sensational. It will be shown at the Bijou theater, on Friday and Saturday, matinee and night.

Orphium Theater.
There is considerable novelty in "Who is to Blame?" a Triangle picture written by E. Mangnus Ingleton. The story has little speed but reaches a satisfactory conclusion and the atmosphere of the Land of the Mikado is reproduced with a fair amount of skill. The cast is headed by the Japanese actor Jack Abbe. Frank Borzage directed the production. This picture will be shown at the Orphium theater Friday.

CAUGHT RIFLING MAILS

Edwin A. Redfern, Rural Mailcarrier, Arrested on Federal Warrant.—Thefts Have Been Occurring For Two Years.

As the result of an investigation conducted by Inspector Staffield of the Postoffice Department concerning a series of thefts at the Xenia postoffice covering a period of over two years, Edwin A. Redfern, carrier on Rural Route No. 1, formerly City Carrier No. 4, was placed under arrest Thursday morning.

Redfern who was caught by the inspector in the act of rifling a decoy letter was later arrested by Chief of Police Canaday at the Citizens' National Bank.

He was locked up at police headquarters while Inspector Staffield went to Dayton for the purpose of swearing out a Federal warrant against him before United States Commissioner Frank W. Howell. The charge to be placed against him will probably be that of rifling the mails, a serious criminal offense.

Postmaster H. E. Rice estimates that in two years, money and valuable packages amounting to over $200 in value have been stolen.

On an average of twice a month, cases of letters containing money, and valuable packages being missing have been reported to Postmaster Rice. Several times postoffice inspectors have conducted investigations, but they were never able to definitely determine Redfern's guilt, although it was suspected that he was responsible for the thefts.

Inspector Staffield and Postmaster

Rice arranged a trap Thursday morning. A decoy letter containing marked money, in bills and silver, and addressed to the Smith Advertising Co., was thrown upon Redfern's desk, as though by accident. Proceedings were then watched by the inspector through a peep hole. Redfern was seen to pick up the decoy letter, and instead of placing it where it belonged he carefully laid it at the side of his desk. When he had finished sorting his mail, he seated himself carelessly upon the edge of his desk, tore open the envelope of the decoy letter, took out the money and placed it in his pocket. The inspector came down to the postmaster's office and Postmaster Rice called Redfern in. He was confronted with the theft and told to remove the money from his pocket. He did so.

At that time Mrs. Mary Williamson, a patron on Redfern's route, and one of his victims came into the office, and testimony was being taken from her regarding $32.90 which she had placed in the mail box for the purchase of a money order. Redfern asked for permission to go to the toilet, and his request was granted.

Instead he went to the street in front of the government building, where he met a friend, whom he persuaded to give him a check for $25. He was at the Citizen's bank in the act of cashing this check when he was arrested. It is the belief of Postmaster Rice that he wanted this money to cover the value of $21 worth of war savings stamps which he had sold, and on which he had not made a return.

Following Redfern's arrest a raid was made on his automobile, used as a mail delivery car. Under the seat were found numerous letters, some of them recent, others two months old.

SEVENTEEN HUNDRED PUPILS REGISTER IN XENIA PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Seventeen hundred pupils registered in the public schools Tuesday morning.

This is a total gain of only 18 over the registration of September 1917.

The total enrollment in Central high school was 322, an increase of 30 over the 1917 enrollment, while McKinley Junior and Central high schools together show a gain of 80, over 1917. There were 238 pupils registered in McKinley Junior high school this year, against 207 who registered last September.

The East high school showed a loss of four this year, 58 having registered, against an enrollment of 62 last year. Lincoln Junior High, has an increase however, 75 pupils registering there against a total of 52 last September.

There was a loss of 62 in the enrollment in the elementary grades. Fifteen less children registered in the first grades this year, than did last year. There was a loss of four in the second grade, six in the third grade, 26 in the fifth grade, 11 in the sixth grade. The fourth is the only elementary grade which showed no loss, 168 pupils registering both years. There are 144 little tots in the first grades this year, against 176 last year.

In connection with the school situation in Xenia Supt. Patterson gave out the following interview regarding the growth of the schools and the revenue that is allowed for their maintenance:

"It will be noted that all of the growth is in the grades of the Junior and Senior High Schools. In other words the local schools are growing only at the top. The enrollment in grades 1-6 would indicate no growth in the city's population. The Superintendent is proud of the growth of 80 in the high school. His ambition to make a 300 pupil high school of Central High is more than realized by enrollment of 322. While there has been no growth of East High for this September, the coming on of larger classes will make possible the 100 pupil high school aimed at by the superintendent and teachers.

"Growth at the top is indisputably grounded in the enrichment of the courses of study through the new departments (home economics, industrial arts, commercial) and the putting of all the work on an interest basis.

"The above data would go to show that the interior management of the schools is functioning as it should. Growth at the top, enthusiasm and interest on the parts of pupils and teachers, lack of interior friction—these are the things competent supervision must occasion, and they all obtain in the local schools. There is a very serious situation, however, confronting the local schools. The tax rate for schools in the city for 1915-16 was 5.20 mills; for 1916-17 it was 5.20 mills; for 1917-18 it was 4.60 mills; for 1918-19 it has been fixed at 4.50 mills. This rate is fixed by the county budget board consisting of the County Auditor, County Treasurer and County Prosecutor. The situation is this—school revenue, instead of keeping pace with educational development and growth in Xenia is becoming less each year. The people are paying as much taxes and more than before. The school authorities point out the apportionment simply fails to be equitable so far as the schools are concerned, and urge the general public to investigate the situation. Unless a more equitable distribution is brought about, the present fine organization must go to pieces, and our boys and girls will pay the price exacted by public indifference."

In Primitive New England.
In the early days of New England history when there were no stoves in the churches, and women took hot potatoes in their muffs, men sometimes brought their dogs to church to serve as foot-warmers. For this privilege a charge was made of six-pence a dog.

BEAVER SCHOOL ANNUAL REUNION GREATLY ENJOYED

The ninth annual reunion of Beaver school was held in the grove adjoining Beaver church, and near the site of the old school, on Labor Day, September 2nd.

A large crowd gathered with well-filled baskets, and a most enjoyable and profitable day was spent. These reunions now amount to a neighborhood home-coming.

Old Beaver school was in its prime before 1850-1870, but existed until 1883. It was a superior school for its day, six young men having gone from it to enter with credit the Sophomore class of Oxford college, now Miami University.

When Horace Mann was at Antioch old Beaver school was working along the line of his ideals in this neighborhood, so that much was done for the forward march of education in Greene county by these two early institutions.

A reunion of the old pupils was started nine years ago by Mrs. Orpha Dillingham, Mrs. Newton Ledbetter and Hon. Horace Ankeney. The history and lists of the school have been collected and a complete accurate list of all old scholars and patrons is desired.

This year the invitations consisted of leaflets containing a picture of the old school, and a list of patrons compiled from memory by Mr. William Kershner of Dayton. This list is to be revised and corrected, with many additions. Will anyone having information of interest please notify the corresponding secretary, Mr. Grant Miller, Rural Route, No. 10.

Last year Mr. Albert Ankeney read a fine history of the school down to '65. This year, this history was carried down to the present time by two speakers, Mrs. Ernest Bradford and Mr. Horace Ankeney.

The speaker of the afternoon was Frank I. Brown, of Dayton, who spoke for an hour upon the subject: "Why I Am Proud to be an American Citizen." This address was most interesting and stimulating, and was greatly enjoyed and appreciated.

The president, Mr. Joel Needles of Dayton presided at both the program and business meetings. Many reminiscences were recalled with pleasure, and several impromptu talks were made by visiting members.

A poem, "School Days," was read by the secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Frost and Mr. Charles Frost of Chicago were welcomed heartily. Mrs. Mary B. Corwin of Cincinnati is always welcomed. She recalled some interesting facts of our boys in the world war, and of the early struggles of prohibition and temperance.

The reunion increases in range and in interest each year. Let us make next year the best ever, and let anyone connected with old Beaver school district come out, with good fellowship and well-filled baskets.

The dinner this year was as sumptuous as ever, though nothing was wasted, and gave highest proof of the best use of substitutes and conservation recipes. But better than the dinner was the reunion itself, and the excellent program of the afternoon.

Nature's Coloring.

For all fruits and flowers only three coloring substances are furnished by nature. One of these is the familiar "chlorophyll," which paints the leaves and the pens, the watermelon, and the leaves of the trees so vividly green. Another is "xanthophyll," which exhibits its intense yellow in the carrot, for example. The third is "erythrophyll," which shows its rich red in the beet. The last two are only modified "chlorophyll," however. But it is marvelous to realize that all the varied hues of flowers and fruits are due to these three substances mixed in different proportions.

START TO THE FAIR BUT GO INSTEAD TO NEWPORT TO WED

Instead of spending the day at the Montgomery county fair, as they told their parents they were going to do, Cecil Conklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Conklin of the Hook road, and Miss Elsie Stingley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Stingley, took a little trip to Newport, Ky., Wednesday.

"We are married. Will be home in a few days," was the telegram which came to their parents, Wednesday evening.

Mr. Conklin is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Conklin, and his bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stingley. Both are well known young people in the neighborhood in which they live.

MISSIONARY SOCIAL

In the parlors of the First Reformed church Friday evening the members of the church and Sunday school will hold a Missionary social. Rev. and Mrs. Ward Hartman of Schenchofu, China, will be present and will give a talk and show a number of curios. Rev. Hartman is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hartman of near Alpha, and is one of our own Missionaries in the Foreign fields. All members and friends of the congregation are cordially invited to come and spend a social hour.

BABE IS TAKEN TO COLUMBUS FOR SPECIAL TREATMENT

Born at the county infirmary, rejected by the feeble minded mother, taken up and mothered by a tender-hearted old inmate of the county institution, and finally placed in the care of the State Board of Charities, is the story of the eight-months-old baby, known as Hazel Anderson.

The child was taken to Columbus a day or so ago by Miss Belle Greve, representing the Child Welfare Department of the State Board of Charities. She is frail and has some spinal trouble. The infant will be placed in a hospital for treatment.

Unusually pathetic is the wife's story. When the child's mother refused to care for her, Mrs. Hattie Anderson, then living at the infirmary, took the baby and began mothering her. She grew extremely fond of the baby, and took entire charge of it at the county infirmary. Finally, it was decided to permit Mrs. Anderson to take the child away from the institution and keep it in a home in Xenia. Mrs. Anderson receives a pension as a soldier's widow, and the county commissioners paid her for the baby's support.

She kept the child scrupulously clean, and gave it the best care she could, but it's physical condition finally grew such that it had to be taken out of her charge.

"THE MAKING OF A NURSE" TO BE SHOWN AT BIJOU

A picture of educational value and of timely interest in these strenuous times of the Red Cross, is "The Making of a Nurse," a film sent out by the Red Cross.

The picture, done under the official sanction of the Red Cross Society, depicts the education necessary for a nurse to qualify for Red Cross service overseas. It is of great educational value and will be of interest not only to local members of the Red Cross but to others. The picture will be shown at the Bijou theater here next Monday and the local Chapter of the Red Cross Triangle urges attendance at the performance.

Cereal Food That Contains Its Own Sugar is utterly unlike any other prepared cereal.

Take a handful of its golden-brown granules and hold it in a strong light. You will see little shining particles on each granule—a result of the Grape-Nuts process of cookery, which turns the starch of wheat and barley into actual sugar.

The sweet, nutty flavor of Grape-Nuts requires no added sugar and where fresh milk or cream is not obtainable condensed or evaporated milk fits in finely.

No sugar is needed, and but little cream or milk, and this makes Grape-Nuts a very desirable cereal these saving days.

COMFORT FROM OUR ENEMIES DISCOMFORTURE.

As nearly all our war news comes from our own correspondents over there, we sometimes get the feeling that perhaps if we got it from the enemy on the other side it would not be so satisfactory. Hence our gratification when we get something, of course in a round about way, from the German papers, that gives their side of the story.

Peculiar light on the reiterated German assertions that the retreat of the Teuton forces on the western front was prearranged, and carried out according to program, without undue haste, is cast by A. S. Meyer, war correspondent of the Essen Zeitung, who gives an account of his visit to a high staff officer of General von Huyler's army to whom he had been referred for information. The officer, who had not slept three hours at a stretch for three days, showed traces of extreme fatigue.

"In the midst of the officer's explanatory statement," says Meyer artlessly, "the telephone rang and news came that the enemy had rushed in on the left flank of the army of Von der Marwitz and that his right flank was endangered. A sudden stream of telephone orders directed the retirement, and the officer's story was cut short.

"We had to leave hurriedly. We were to lunch with General von Hutler, but during the luncheon the telephone never ceased ringing and Von Hutler himself was hurriedly called away by a young orderly, who was to have given us the rest of the story."

As the correspondent does not produce it, the assumption seems to be justified that there was no story that day. Such incidents, however, do not prevent Karl Rosner, generally considered the press agent of Emperor William, from declaring that superior leadership and skill are still on the German side.

On the other hand, General von Salzman, writing in the Vossische Zeitung, makes hysterical appeals to Germans to set their teeth and carry on. The German people, who so often have been told that France was at its last gasp, are now asked by General Salzman to remember that the boundless resources of the Entente Powers lie at France's back. Salzman closes his article with this statement:

"A peace dictated by the British means that the Fatherland will be wiped off the map and that its sons, rich and poor, will be reduced to slavery and beggary."

An illuminating insight into Teutonic mentality is provided by the Cologne Volks-Zeitung, which in lamenting the terrible bloodshed and destruction caused by the war says:

"Much as we detest it as human beings and as Christians, yet we exult in it as Germans."

WANT DEMOCRATIC POLITICS ONLY.

Appointees of the present national administration seem to have taken a page out of the German propaganda book and adapted it to the service of the Democratic party. A studied effort is made to convince the people that if the war should continue until after 1920 Mr. Wilson should succeed himself as president. This course is to be pursued on the ground that Mr. Wilson knows the situation and that it is not good public policy to "change horses in the middle of the stream." But the propaganda does not stop there. It is used to cover both contingencies, that is, the continuance of the war, and in case the war should end.

In the event of peace before 1920, it is suggested as the American people's aversion to giving a president of Russia terms, that Mr. McAdoo, by the Bolsheviks' son-in-law is so well ports from Moscow.

'THE WIFE'

BY JANE PHELPS

RUTH HAS A DELIGHTFUL TRIP TO NEWPORT WITH MR. MANDEL.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

The gasp Ruth heard was not reassuring. "What's that you say?" Brian asked, and his voice was so raucous, it made Ruth shiver with dread of what he would say when he realized she was really going.

"I am going to Newport to look at a house to be done over. I'll be back tomorrow night! If I find I can't tell you," then, before he could answer, she glanced at the clock. She must go at once. "Good bye, I can't wait another minute!" and she hung up without waiting for an answer.

It was hard to go away without even hearing him say "good bye," but perhaps it was best. He perhaps was angry, and by the time she returned would have cooled off. Nevertheless her eyes were swimming with tears when she gave her final instructions to Mrs. Crawford.

"Be sure you give him all the things he likes to eat," she cautioned, showing she, like other women, knew one way at least to placate a man.

"Indeed I will, and don't worry, ma'am," Mrs. Crawford had soon understood how matters were, had sensed Brian's dislike to having his wife work, even though it made him more comfortable.

Mr. Mandel was waiting at the station. "Just on time!" he said pleasantly, as he took her bag and helped her into a train. He had two seats in the parlor car, on the shady side and had laid late magazines on both of them. His own luggage also had been placed in the car before her arrival.

"This is comfortable," Ruth said as she sank back in the chair, and the porter, in response to a motion from Mr. Mandel, brought her a hassock for her feet.

"Traveling is hard enough at any time and under all circumstances. I believe in being as comfortable as possible," he returned, then picked up a magazine and was soon buried in its contents.

Ruth was thankful she did not have to talk. Her mind was full of her own affairs. She could not forget that gasp she had heard when she first told Brian she was going away, and she felt decidedly uneasy as to what he would say on her return. He would be terribly put out, that she knew, perhaps angry. But he would have nearly two days to think it over. Perhaps he would be sensible and not be so angry as she feared. With an unconscious sigh at his lack of sympathy in her venture, she also picked up a magazine. She had failed to notice the sharp glance Mr. Mandel gave her when he heard that sigh.

Neither spoke until luncheon was announced. Then he laid aside his magazine and said:

"Suppose we go right in. I reserved a table, and the food will be better if we go at once."

Ruth rose obediently. She had traveled so little, was really unfamiliar with dining cars to such an extent, that she, like a child, considered it a treat to eat in one.

She ordered a very simple luncheon, which he insisted upon supplementing with a dish or two.

"You will find your appetite when you commence to eat," he told her. "One always does when traveling."

Luncheon finished. Mr. Mandel went into the smoking car and did not reappear for an hour. He had chatted pleasantly through luncheon, not mentioning business, and so preventing Ruth from doing so, although there were several things in connection with their errand to Newport she would have liked to discuss.

"Perhaps he doesn't believe in talking business when he's away from the shop," she thought. So she contented herself with reading the magazines he had provided and in looking out of the window. She never had been east of New York and so was interested in all she saw.

After Mr. Mandel returned from the smoking car, she asked a question which proved her unfamiliarity with the country through which they were passing.

"Have you never been to Newport?" he asked.

"No, I have never been much of anywhere," she confessed naively.

"Aunt Louisa didn't much believe in girls leaving home. I reckon she thought it wasn't good for them. She and I visited New York once before I was married, and we, my husband and I, stayed at Atlantic City for a while. You see I am not much of a traveler."

"So I see!" he replied, looking at her with an added interest. It was wonderful that this delicately nurtured southern girl, who still "reckoned" when she talked, should have become so proficient in an art to which he had given many years' hard study.

From that time until they reached the end of their journey, he pointed out all places of interest they passed, giving her a little sketch of that part of the country at the same time.

"You will revel in New England homes," he said, explaining that, as one went further east, the homes were still filled with gems of old-fashioned furniture; chippendale chairs, and Windsor tables and cabinets. In fact, he made himself so entertaining that Ruth was almost sorry when they reached Newport, and she had bade him good night in the hotel to follow the boy to the room reserved for her.

Tomorrow—Ruth sees Newport's famous Ocean Drive for the first time.

A New Dodge.

To a Natal Kaffir belongs the credit of inventing a labor-saving device for chimney cleaning. One of the colony journals says: "A native in Weenen had been asked to sweep a chimney, which he undertook to do. Later he was seen mounting the ladder he used for the purpose with a couple of fowls under his arm. These he allowed to flutter down the flue, and the job was done."

TAPS ARE TO BE SOUNDED IN XENIA EVERY EVENING

Governor Cox has arranged for taps to be sounded on the statehouse steps every day at precisely the same moment that it is sounded in American Camps in France. This will probably start on Lafayette's birthday, Sept. 6. In making the announcement the Governor said: "Taps which marks the end of a soldier's day, is one of the most thrilling of our military trumpet calls. As the bugles sing the true of sleep here, the tuneful voice of the nation here, throbbing across the ocean's wide expanse should carry to our champions a hearty goodnight."

Supt. J. P. Elton of the O. S. & S. O. Home will send two buglers to Xenia each evening at 5 o'clock to sound taps beginning Friday evening. Arrangements were made by George Sheets acting at the request of the local draft board. Taps will be sounded from the Main street door of the courthouse.

USE HONEY INSTEAD OF SUGAR.

Cleveland, Sept. 5.—A Campaign to impress Cleveland with the value of honey as a substitute for sugar was started today at the West side Municipal Market with an exhibit from an apiary. The bees are shown gathering honey and depositing it in the wax, while demonstrators show its value in preparing pastry and foods. The Belgian government recently placed an order for a large quantity of honey and will urge the people to use it as a substitute for sugar.

Tired Nervous Mothers

Should Profit by the Experience of These Two Women

Buffalo, N. Y.—"I am the mother of four children, and for nearly three years I suffered from a female trouble with pains in my back and side, and a general weakness. I had professional attendance most of that time but did not seem to get well. As a last resort I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which I had seen advertised in the newspapers, and in two weeks noticed a marked improvement. I continued its use and am now free from pain and able to do all my household work."—Mrs. B. B. ZIELINSKA, 202 Weiss Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Portland, Ind.—"I had a displacement and suffered so badly from it at times I could not be on my feet at all. I was all run down and so weak I could not do my household work, was nervous and could not lie down at night. I took treatments from a physician but they did not help me. My Aunt recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tried it and now I am strong and well again and do my own work and I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound the credit."—Mrs. JOSEPHINE KIMBLE, 935 West Race Street, Portland, Ind.

ENROLLMENT OF STUDENT ARMY AT ANTIOCH BEGINS

In order to meet the growing demands for information concerning the establishment of a student army training Corps at Antioch College the office of that institution has been opened and enrollment will begin at once.

The establishment of a military camp within the county gives opportunity for registered men to receive their preliminary training near their homes, where a 24 hour leave would allow them to spend many hours at home, and eligible men are showing considerable interest in this new branch of the service.

In order to meet demands for information, the Secretary's office, in the main college building, at Yellow Springs, will be open each afternoon, with the exception of Sunday, from 1:00 to 4:00 o'clock. Men who can not conveniently visit the college at these hours should apply to Prof. Wm. Dawson or Pres. George D. Black, for information.

Final plans for the conversion of the south dormitory into a barracks which will be large enough to house 250 men were submitted at a meeting of the board of trustees at the college Wednesday, and work has already begun.

The Student Army Training Corps affords an exceptional opportunity to young men of this vicinity who wish to enter a branch of the service which will permit them to give their best services to the government. Any man between the ages of 18 and 45, inclusive, who has a high school education, is eligible.

The time of the student-soldiers is divided between military drill of an intensive nature, and academic work which has a bearing upon military affairs.

Men enrolled in the school will be selected from time to time to enter training to become line officers, technical experts, officers in technical branches and non-commissioned officers.

Induction into this service will take place about October 1st, but men are asked to enroll as soon as possible.

NEW BURLINGTON

burg, has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. C. D. Miers, and family, since Friday of last week, returning home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Icenhower and family, of Washington C. H., are guests of their parents here.

Mrs. Ida Howland, of Wilmington, has been the guest the past week of her brother, Ernest Hurley, and family.

Miss Agnes Shambaugh has a position as teacher in the school at Bellfontaine. Miss Edna Goyke will teach the school near Clarksville, where she taught last year. Miss Nanette Shambaugh who so successfully taught in the primary room here the past 10 years, will have charge of the Lambert school. Miss Loretta Hurley will teach in the grades of Adams township Centralized School at Sligo and Wm. H. Harlan has been employed as superintendent of the Adams township schools.

Miss Agnes Shambaugh and Miss Loretta Hurley were guests of Miss Laura Stephens, at Wilmington, while attending Institute.

The Hurley reunion will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hurley, east of town September 7th.

The members of the New Burlington Circuit of the M. E. church gave their retiring pastor, Rev. Wm. Shriner and family, a pleasant surprise Saturday afternoon, and presented them with a large leather chair.

YOUNG SOLDIER AND YELLOW SPRINGS GIRL WED IN KENTUCKY

Not to be defeated because the laws of Ohio said the prospective bridegroom was too young to obtain a marriage license without his father's consent, Private Arthur Revor of Wilbur Wright Field and Miss Katherine Heeg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Heeg of Yellow Springs, took a trip to Newport, Ky., Wednesday, and came back in the afternoon, husband and wife.

The young pair had expected to be married in Yellow Springs, but they learned that the parental consent was necessary before Private Revor could get the desired document from the probate court. A telegram was sent to the soldier's father in Springfield, Mass., asking him to wire his consent, but an answer did not come, and the young couple, with the bride's parents' consent, hid themselves off to Kentucky.

Private Revor is a truck driver at Wright Field. He and his bride will live in Osborn.

Bought That Stove Yet?

Stoves are going to be scarce this year. The government needs all the iron ore available for munitions and ships.

See that you don't freeze this winter by ordering your stove now—while we have them in stock. It's a hard job to get stoves and we consider ourselves fortunate in being able to obtain all that we now show.

You, too, will be fortunate if you put one of them in your home. They're coal savers and wonderful heaters.

Come and pick your stove out today—don't delay.

Paint This Fall—

WE recommend Fall painting because our experience in the paint business has taught us that Fall is the best time to paint. We know you will get best results, and if you will come in and talk with us about your painting we will gladly explain why Fall painting is best.

We also recommend the use of Lowe Brothers High Standard Paint on your buildings. We know it will give you lasting satisfaction.

Let us show you the High Standard color panels.
